What parents have said about the Parent-Child Mother Goose Program...

- Will not miss a class for anything!
- Wonderful bonding experience. Great to see the children grow and develop each week.
- Coming to the program meant a lot for me and my child. It is our time to learn and meet new friends. It makes my child pay attention and learn new words.
- It’s good to meet and talk with other parents.
- This program is an amazing way to learn parenting tools.

“I have just completed a second book on early intervention and have included information on the Parent-Child Mother Goose Program, as I believe it is such an important approach to intervention and can enhance the parent-child attachment and the child’s language development, and can provide parents with important social support and an entry into more in-depth treatment for the parents or children if necessary. It is therefore included in the book so that the other programs in North America will be able to become more aware of it and its great potential to change the lives of children.”
